The Virginia Girls Camp New Group Arrives

The first group of 40 older girls from New York city ended their two-weeks visit to Virginia Fresh Air Camp and returned home last Wednesday. They were favored with good weather throughout, which permitted a varied open air program of activities including hikes, swimming, etc. One evening they had a picnic at the Natural Gardens, and several times they enjoyed cabin suppers. Another evening they had supper and games at Green Pastures. Last Sunday they attended morning worship at the Trinitarian church and sang as a group Maltbie D. Babcock's hymn "This is My Father's World."

The next group will be due on Monday July 24. They will be younger children, and they will also have two weeks in the camp.

At a recent meeting of the directors of the camp two new directors were elected, namely, Mrs. M. D. Birdsall and Mrs. Gordon Moody. Mrs. W. R. Moody, chairman, read a letter from Mrs. Horace Bigelow, executive secretary of the New York City Mission Society, which is supporting the camp, in which she stressed the need of generous support by interested friends because of an added burden for about $450, for railroad expenses since the New York Tribune Fresh Air Fund is not paying these expenses this year. There are many ways of helping besides money gifts. Some immediate needs are cots, mattresses, children's books and games, including jigsaw puzzles. A piano for Seibert Hall would be especially acceptable. Expenses would be greatly reduced if friends in Northfield could donate vegetables and fruit from their gardens. It has been estimated that the cost of food for each child per day has been reduced to 33 cents, still the total required for 120 children for 14 days each, together with other necessary expenses, runs up into hundreds of dollars.

The grounds and tennis court were cleared up last week by a number of volunteers who included Harold Briesmaster, Laurin Chase, Homer Carne, Robert Devere, Robert Hartman, and Joe Butynski, under the direction of Mr. George Carr. A good supply of firewood was also chopped up.

New Bus Service

Another bus service with Brattleboro as the northern terminus was started last week. The busses will leave Greenfield and run via Northfield and Hinsdale. The operators are M. Daignault and Sons of Greenfield.

Three round trips a day are scheduled on daylight saving time, a Pierce-Arrow sedan leaving Greenfield common at 8:30 a.m., 12 m., and 5:15 p.m., and coming through Northfield, Mass., and Hinsdale, N. H. Only short stops will be made in Brattleboro, the sedan starting back at 9:15, 1:15 and 6:45, daylight saving time.

Given Surprise

Prof. and Mrs. I. J. Lawrence were given a real surprise party by a large group of friends at their home at Mount Hermon last week as a farewell greeting. Prof. Lawrence has resigned his position with the Northfield schools and will locate in Northfield to follow his musical profession in a private capacity. The evening was spent in an hour of music and refreshments were served. Mr. Lawrence was presented with a money gift by the group of friends.

Band Concerts

Brattleboro is to have a series of outdoor band concerts this season scheduled for the following Thursday evenings: July 13, July 20, July 27, Aug. 3, Aug. 10, Aug. 17, and Sept. 7. The concerts will be given by the Brattleboro Band in the City Park. No doubt many Northfield motorists will plan to enjoy these performances.

New State Road Map

The road map issued by the state department of public works and showing road construction projects under date of July 15th throughout the state has been received and a copy has been placed upon the walls of the Herald office where the public are invited to consult it.

Bank Borrowing Much Misunderstood

The Irving Trust Co., of New York publishes a most timely article on Bank Borrowing which the Herald prints in this issue and because of the fact that many applications for loans at National Banks have now to be carefully considered. The Northfield National Bank through its President hopes that this presentation will be read and carefully considered by all intending borrowers and those whose loans are now held by them.

"In a book, published in England a decade before our Civil War, it is written:—
"A man of moderate means will be anxious not to borrow of his banker a loan which he will not be able punctually to repay, as the good opinion of his banker is necessary to his credit."

"Since that time, the functions of a bank and the use of bank credit have become better understood."

"When the wealthy man of today wishes to obtain an UNSECURED LOAN for commercial purposes, he expects to meet the same requirements that a corporation would be obliged to meet in similar circumstances."

"He is prepared, for example, to give his bank as FULL INFORMATION about his situation as a corporation would. He must be prepared, moreover, to state how he expects to repay the loan when due."

"Another type of credit, available to individuals, firms or corporations, is the SECURED LOAN. In making such a loan the banker is principally concerned with the value, marketability and general soundness of the collateral offered. He frequently waives much of the full information required of the applicant for a commercial loan."

"On the other hand, because the secured loan is based primarily on the collateral received, the borrower in his own interest should consider carefully the possibility of wide short-term fluctuations in market value, and the inevitable demand thus created for a revision of collateral."

"The strong commercial banks stand ready today—as always—to make SOUND loans of both types to individuals, firms and corporations."

The General Conference Will Be Well Attended

Perhaps one of the largest religious conferences in America is the Northfield General Conference for Christian Workers which meets this year for its 53d annual session July 29-August 14 and will attract more than 3,000 people, including 200 ministers, from all parts of the country. Speakers of great prominence from Great Britain and America address these conferences. Dr. John A. Hutton, editor of the British Weekly, the most influential religious publication in the world, and Dr. H. Stuart Holden, for years an outstanding leader of the general conference, will come from London, England. From Scotland the Rev. Adam W. Burnet of Westbourne Church, Glasgow, and the Rev. D. M. Baillie of Limacolum, brother of Dr. John Baillie of Union Theological Seminary, New York city, will also be on the list of speakers. The outstanding American preachers will be Dr. James Moffat, Union Theological Seminary, known for his translation of the Old and New Testament. Dr. William S. Mitchell, who was first to hold the chair of evangelism in the Boston University School of Theology, Dr. L. M. Zimmerman, who organized and established Christ church, Baltimore, Dr. Charles R. Erdman of Princeton, and Dr. Paul R. Moody, president of Middlebury College, Vermont, brother of William R. Moody, who presides annually over this conference.

At the Northfield

These fine days many persons are to be seen daily on the links of the Northfield Hotel.

The Northfield Golf Course is located on an extensive estate, surrounded by the Hotel in a scenic natural amphitheater. From it may be seen the village of Northfield, Mount Hermon School, Mount Toboy and the Connecticut River Valley. Across the river the Green Mountains and Berkshire Hills come into view. To the north are Mount Wantanquet and the blue ranges of southern New Hampshire.

The course, which is constantly being improved, is under the supervision of a professional whose services may be procured at moderate rates. One may sit on the wide verandas of The Northfield and watch the golfer enjoying his daily round.

The green fees range from 50c and up, daily, to $30.00 per season, according to time and length of playing.

Guests of The Northfield House and Chateau, Residents and Visitors of Northfield and surrounding towns are cordially invited to avail themselves of the privileges of the course.

Margaret Crooks Weds Ridge Summer Resident

The wedding of Miss Sarah Margaret Crooks, for the past fifteen years a resident with her parents in Rustic Ridge and well known to our young people in Northfield was married on Thursday afternoon, June 29th to Mr. William Edwin Crowell of Sharon, Pa., at the First Presbyterian Church in Brookline, Mass. Miss Crooks is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Allen J. Crooks of Brookline, Mass. The bride's father performed the ceremony which was followed by a dinner at the home for the bride party and a few out of town guests. The church was beautifully decorated in palms, roses, delphinium and sweet peas. The bride was gowned in white satin with a turban trimmed in orange blossoms and a long veil of tulle and carried calla lilies and white orchids.

Miss Helen Steves of Brookline was maid of honor and wore ruffled mousseline de sole in a deep yellow shade with a large matching hat, and carried a large bouquet of spring flowers. Miss Esther Crooks, sister of the bride and Miss Mary Eckles of Sharonville, Pa., were the bridesmaids and wore frocks of pale blue and pale rose mousseline de sole with picture hats to match.

Mr. Kenneth R. Delahanty of Pittsburgh, Pa., attended Mr. Crowell and the ushers were Messrs. Wilfred L. Steves of Brookline, Charles Brown of Providence; Maurice Brown of Boston, and Ralph McNeill of Brookline.

Mr. Crowell is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Crowell of Sharon, Penna. He was graduated from Westminster College with the class of 1930 and his bride with the class of 1931. After a motor trip throughout New England they will be at home in Mercer, Pa., where Mr. Crowell is a teacher and athletic coach in the schools.

Waite's Suffer Fire

Mr. and Mrs. Harlan P. Waite recently moved from Winchester Road to the apartment in the Johnson home on Main street recently occupied by Dr. Hubbard. The comfortable attractive apartment had been made ready for them and they had just become settled when fire broke out in the kitchen Tuesday morning, about nine o'clock from an overflowing oil burner. Neighbors and friends immediately removed all furniture and furnishings and the fire department responded to a call. The kitchen was badly damaged and the smoke filled the house with a damage estimated at about $200.

Mr. and Mrs. H. P. Waite wish to thank their friendly neighbors for the kindness shown them during the fire.

Eagle To Library

The large American bald eagle recently shot by Mr. R. B. Holton will find a place in Dickinson Library for the Trustees will pay for its mounting by Mr. Nelson of Winchester and a proper position will be given it. The eagle was offered to the library by Game Warden Hughes upon approval by the State Office in Boston upon the suggestion of citizens of the town and by Mr. Holton as stated in last week's Herald. The Editor of the Herald desires to thank those persons and organizations who volunteered to pay for the preservation of the bird for presentation. The Library Trustees has assumed the expense.

Rhymed Want-Ad Ends Search For First Woman Ad-Writer

(Left) Miss Minny Hanff in 1902, when she was America's pioneer woman copywriter; (center) Sunny Jim, her most famous creation; (right) Miss Hanff, now M. M. H. Ayers, as she is today.

BUFFALO (Special).—Thirty years ago a girl in her teens walked into a breakfast food manufacturer's office with an idea. The idea evolved into the greatest advertising character of the day and the girl into advertising's first successful woman writer.

She was Minny Maude Hanff, and her creation was "Sunny Jim," born Jim Dumps, whose transition from pessimism to optimism, by means of breakfast food was told in humorous jingles famous the country over.

Last month the same manufacturer decided to revive Sunny Jim, and his jingles and sent a hurry call for his creator. But she had dropped from sight completely. After a futile search, the "agency" columns of New York newspapers were used for this jingle:

"I pen these lines to Minny Hanff For whom I've searched from Maine to Hanff. But all my letters have miscarried. Perhaps, Miss Hanff, you've since been married? If from the Dumps you'd rescue him, Please drop a line to Sunny Jim." With readers suspecting a thwarted romance in the lines, the same columns a week later carried a reply in the same vein from Miss Hanff, now Mrs. M. M. H. Ayers and the mother of three grown children. This week a meeting was arranged between officials of the company and Mrs. Ayers which resulted in her agreement to return to the profession in which she pioneered and revive her famous Sunny Jim and his jingles.

Gill

Leo La Mountain of Gill pleaded guilty in district court at Turners Falls last week on charges of drunkenness and operating an automobile while under the influence of liquor. He was fined $100 on the operating charge and $10 for drunkenness and the case was continued until August 2 for payment.

La Mountain was arrested on the morning of the 4th on Ferry road after he had been involved in an accident on the Montague road.

Philip Stoughton of Gill has transferred three tracts of land, totalling about 92,280 square feet on Riverside road to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

Amherst Farm Week

All roads lead to Amherst next week, as Massachusetts farmers and homemakers journey for the fifteenth annual Farm and Home Week of the Massachusetts State College held from Tuesday to Friday July 25 to 28. The agricultural and homemaking departments of the State College have declared open house and have arranged 14 different programs for the information of the visitors.

Four of the programs, on homemaking, food preservation, home canning, and the home flower garden, are planned particularly for women.

The other ten, covering the general fields of forestry, dairying, vegetable production, farm management, crops, poultry raising, beekeeping, fruit growing, tobacco and onion production, and turf growing will hold more appeal for men.

Warwick

Miss Bell Lemar and Joseph Palmer of Hartford, Conn., are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Marshall Flagg.

A fairly good crop of blue berries is being harvested in various parts of the town. Owing to the dry weather the berries are not as large as usual.

Miss Marion and Dorothy Ward of Somerville are spending the week at W. O. Hubbard's.

Maria and Lorlei King of Springfield are spending the summer with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. George V. Farr.

There will be a well-child conference in the church vestry on Tuesday, July 25 from 9:30 to 12 m. and from 1 p. m. to 4 p. m. The clinic staff of the state department of public health will examine the children and talk to the mothers.

The church service will be held at the regular hour, 10:45 a.m., during the summer as usual but the church school has been closed until August 20.

Mr. and Mrs. McInnis, who formerly owned the house now occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Albert Morris on "The Brook" have purchased a tract of land near the Douglas place and are building a bungalow there.

It is reported that Charles H. Morse has purchased the farm recently owned by Edward Brenack, and will build a house on the spot where the Brenacks lived. The house was destroyed by fire last year.

The state auditors have been in town last week checking up the town books.

Under the new time schedule the mail leaves Orange for Warwick at 8:00 a.m. and returning leaves Warwick at 9:40. Mail in Warwick post office closes at 9:15.

WORDS OF COMFORT

THE LORD IS THY KEEP-ER
the Lord is thy shade upon thy right hand,
The Lord shall PRESERVE THEE FROM ALL EVIL;
He shall preserve thy soul.
The Lord shall preserve thy going out and thy coming in from this time forth, and even for evermore.
Psalm 121, 5, 7-8.

THOU WILT KEEP HIM IN PERFECT PEACE,
whose mind is stayed on Thee: because he trusteth in Thee.
Isaiah 26, 3.

South Church

The special meetings continue with fine interest. On next Sunday morning, Rev. Dr. Elliot Brown, late of New York City and later of Holyoke, now a fellow townsman, will bring to us his message. Mr. W. W. Nye of Keene, N. H., who rendered so effectively two solos at the service last Sunday, has been asked to sing again and is expected next Sunday, the 23d.

The Mission Brotherhood, which has general charge of these meetings, has through Rev. Dr. Westwood, arranged for an Archbishop of the Old Catholic Church of America to preach on the 30th, the last services of the series.

Rev. Dr. Frank O. Hall spoke last Sunday on the inevitable law of God in both the physical and moral realms. We cannot evade the law. Men may seemingly go without reward or punishment, that is, externally. But men are rewarded in life and death. It is sure in the life, in the quality of the life itself. The ill consequence of disobedience, of sin, is most dreadfully in the degeneration or degradation of life or character. That was his thought in forceful illustrations.

There was a delegation of some thirty people who came over from the Universalist Church in North Adams, a former charge of Mr. and Mrs. Conner, to attend the morning service here. They were received at the ministers' home in the afternoon.

Alliance Speaker

Announced

The National Spiritual Alliance has announced that Mrs. Dana Hastings will again occupy the platform at the Alliance Temple Sunday afternoon and evening as speaker and message bearer. Joe Mitchell Chapple, journalist, publisher and orator, will speak in the afternoon at the opening of camp meeting July 30.

Coming To Northfield

The Most Rev. William H. Francis, Archbishop and Metropolitan of the Old Catholic Church in America, is one of the most interesting and arresting figures in the life of Liberal Religion in America and the world today.

The movement which he represents is part of a world-wide movement of Catholics who have broken from the Papal authority of Rome, a movement numbering several millions in Europe and about 100,000 in the United States. Dr. Archbishop Francis was originally the Abbott of a Benedictine Monastery. On breaking with the Papal authority he became a Bishop of the Old Catholic Movement and was duly elected Archbishop and Metropolitan in 1917.

He is much interested in the idea of the Free Church of America. He is also interested in the work of The Mission Brotherhood (A Liberal Preaching Order) of which Dr. Horace Westwood is the Brother Director. At the invitation of Dr. Westwood (extended through the Rev. Mary A. Conner) he is preaching for the Mission Brotherhood in the First Church in Northfield on Sunday morning July 30th. He will speak on "The Meaning of Liberal Catholicism for the Modern World." Dr. Westwood will take some part in the service.

Shear Nonsense

"And now, ladies and gentlemen, I just want to tax your memory," said the orator.

"Good heavens!" exclaimed one of his hearers. "Has it come to that?"

Stranger—When does the five-fifteen leave?

Train Man—At a quarter past five.

Stranger—Thanks. I get all mixed up over this changing of time.

Clerk—What size collar does your husband wear, Mrs. Peck?

Mrs. Peck—I don't know his collar size, but my fingers just meet when I take him by the throat.

"Can you drive with one hand?" asked the girl in a gentle voice.

"You bet I can," he answered eagerly.

"Then have an apple," she said sweetly.

Wedding

Ashfield Fair

Is August 9th

The second annual Ashfield street fair under the auspices of Western Massachusetts Y. W. C. A. has been set for August 9. A diversified program will open at 2 and close with dancing from 8 to midnight with Phil O'Hara's Greenfield orchestra furnishing music. The opening event is the grand parade which will be participated in by Y. W. C. A. groups from more than 50 towns in the district. There will be decorated automobile floats and bands with a prize awarded to the best band. On the street will be booths, street vendors in gay costumes, fortune tellers, silhouet artists, sight-seeing straw rides and a vaudeville show. Supper will be served by the women of Ashfield and Buckland. There will be archery contest, horse-shoe pitching and field and track events.

Last year's street fair inaugurated these annual events. Rain necessitated a somewhat circumscribed program but district leaders considered it successful with an attendance of more than 2000. Plans for this year will permit carrying out the events as scheduled for four large halls have been made available in the event of inclement weather.

Northfield will be well represented and many of the towns young ladies with their chaperones are expecting to attend.

Ever Stop To Think?

Ily Edson R. Waite
Shawnee, Oklahoma

Common sense means something different to each one of us. Some men think it common sense to tuck their shirt tail in, while some Indians think the right way is to let it hang loose. To some people a soft pillow is regarded as an essential adjunct to a comfortable bed. In China the nicest pillow is something akin to a brick.

A few years ago it was deemed proper to rise in the summer many hours after the sun had risen. Now, of course, most people regard the daylight saving scheme as common sense and laugh at the opposition it had.

Now some people think a standardized month seems eminently sensible. For instance, they wonder why we should be muddled with the twenty-eight days of February and the thirty-one of August.

For the reason, a perfectly ridiculous one, we must go back to the reign of a swollen headed Roman Emperor. Yet the Cotsworth Calendar, like the twenty-four hour clock, is bitterly opposed and, although many think it is bound to come in time, future generations may look back upon the day of its introduction with a smile. They may even draw a parallel with the adoption of the Gregorian Calendar in 1752. The history books relate that on the day that change was made an angry rabble thronged the streets of London and demanded to be given back the twelve days of which it had been robbed.

The federal government has received $624,070.07 in taxes from Massachusetts, since the legalizing of the sale and manufacture of beer in the commonwealth. The report covers the period from April 7 until June 30.

The new National Bank of Bel-lows Falls will be organized with a capital of $50,000 and a surplus of $10,000. The date of opening the bank is still uncertain. The old bank has been operating with special accounts since March 4.

EDITORIAL

The Northfield Taxpayers Association now constituted with a large and satisfactory membership is up in arms to throw the light of publicity upon all activities of our public politically constituted bodies. Taxpayers have had but very little information given them of the march of events and gossip has always painted a much misinterpreted picture. Perhaps some good will come now from the new spirit of co-operation which has been shown toward these taxpayers associations on the part of many of our officials in both town and county.

A wave of protest against the exemption of private schools and educational institutions is growing over the country and was evidenced recently in Massachusetts and Vermont. On June 27th a proposal was submitted to the people of California to exempt from taxation so-called private non-profit schools. The campaign on this issue was intensely fought in many sections of the state. The results of the election show that it was defeated by over 290,000 votes. Many of our educational institutions in this state hold too much property not strictly used for educational purposes and it is this exempted property that causes our voters much concern and will lead to probable future action. As a matter of fact it is a big question if any property should be exempt.

The recent mulcting of nearly two thousand dollars from a Northfield couple in a worthless security brings home the thought that people who have money to invest "should consult with their banker first" for advice and for the security of their hard earned money. If you have accumulated cash from the years of labor better far put it into the bank to be drawn against when needed in old age rather than risk a "promised riches" with something one knows nothing about.

Poet's Corner

BE CAREFUL WHAT YOU SAY

In speaking of a person's fault,
Pray don't forget your own;
Remember, those with homes of glass
Should seldom throw a stone;
If we have nothing else to do
But talk of those that sin,
'Tis better we commence at home,
And from that point begin.

We have no right to judge a man
Until he's fairly tried;
Should we not like his company
We know the world is wide.
Some may have faults — and who
Has not?

The old as well as young —
Perhaps we may, for aught we know,
Have fifty to their one.

I'll tell you of a better plan,
And find it works full well:
To try my own defects to cure
Before of others tell;
And though I sometimes hope to be
No more than some I know,
My own shortcomings bid me let
The faults of others go.

Then let us all when we commence
To slander friend or foe,
Think of the harm one word would Do.

To those we little know:
Remember, curses sometimes, like
Our chickens, "roost at home."
Don't speak of others' faults until
We have none of our own!

Anon.

THE TIME OF PEACE

Out of the horror of the battlefray
I see the promise of a warless day;
The prostrate worlds now learn the way
Through way through tears
Resolves are rising out of tragic fears;
Around our world a new-born hope
will run,
A glad new spirit go from son to son,
The sabre's edge will turn from flesh to scull,
The lance will lend itself to garden
toll,
Where hurtling steel made earth a living hell
Conversing friends will sit beside the well,
In shell-torn fields the flowers will grow,
Through No Man's Land the cows
will come and go,
And singing, laughing down the village street
In thrilling fellowship of marching feet,
With golden bugles and the beat of drum,
The soldiers of the future, they will come,
Chanting their songs of holy love
and peace
That old wrongs may die and old hates shall cease.
Above their ranks I see a new flag rise,
The rosy color of it thrills the eyes,
And lo! a voice vibrates up in the van:
"Salute the flag of the Brotherhood of Man!"
Vincent G. Burns

DREAM-HOUSES

Ever I dream of houses! —
I, who have not a shed
To shelter me from the tempest;
Nor a hearth to bake my bread!
I dream no dream of laurels
Nor of yellow wealth that gleams,
But always the thought of houses
Follows me in my dreams!

Always I dream of houses!
Poor and a landless man,
Comes to my mental vision
Over and over again,
Houses, and yet more houses —
Dwellings humble or high;
Lofty or low, as maybe,
But places to live — and die!

Ever I dream of houses! —
And ever with coming day
The frail-built structures crumble
And utterly melt away.
I have pondered the matter deeply
And the course that leads thereto:
But the answer still eludes me —
In Heaven do dreams come true?
Arthur Goodenough
West Brattleboro, Vt.

Appreciation

It is a fine testimony to Northfield and its influences which prompts this year the following fine tributes from delegates to the Conferences thus far held and the Herald prints them in the hope that our readers, citizens of "no mean" community may also appreciate the place and the influences which prevail wherein they live. "God speaks to us at Northfield By the glory of the sky,
By the sun and moon and starlight;
By the river running by;
By the grandeur of the mountains
Which encircle like his love;
And for all these wondrous voices
We give thanks to Him above."

Lutheran
"Northfield stands for Christianity at its best. Northfield stands for a place where girls and women can go and see beyond horizons, the world as God made it. This summer with the new joint Conference we are having an opportunity to make history, and all of us are looking forward eagerly to what such a Union in the name of Missions will mean to the Church and to each of us individually. If it needs must be, now is the time to sacrifice just to be there for that unforgettable week." — Mary E. Moore.

See Northfield's

Famous Schools

Thousands of motorists will read the following article in Socony's Tours and Detours for July 15th and perhaps we may see an additional influx of visitors to our community. The article follows:—"Unless you know about them beforehand, as you roll along route 10 near Northfield, Mass., (D-11) on your Socony map of New England, you are apt to pass not one but two famous institutions. Both have recently completed their first fifty years of usefulness to the world at large.

That "at large" is no empty phrase, for we are talking of the Northfield Seminary (for girls) and the Mount Hermon School (for boys both founded by Dwight L. Moody, the noted evangelist. Both have drawn students from and sent teachers to, the far ends of the earth.

The buildings are closed during the summer but the grounds are open and interested visitors are welcome to drive in. The seminary is in the village of Northfield itself, while Mount Hermon is just west of the Connecticut River.

Mount Hermon stands well back from the road in extensive grounds and it has quite an imposing array of buildings. Inquiring reporter that we are, we tried to draw out the dean by asking him what he was proudest of at Mount Hermon.

"The boys," he answered. We admired Mount Hermon even more after that."

Another Victory

The local ball team went on a batting spree last Wednesday night against the Crescent A. C. of Keene. Only eight innings were played due to darkness and when the smoke had cleared away the local boys were on the long end of a 20-5 score.

Paul Urzilewicz started for the locals and was very effective. Four tallies were chalked up on him when Pau of the visitors connected for one of his fast ones for a four bagger with the bases loaded.

Bob Shearer then pitched two innings and allowed only two hits.

Stan Bistrek relieved Shearer and pitched the last two innings and he allowed only two hits.

Every one of the local boys connected for a least one hit except Chase who only came to bat once. "Red" Yez socked out a single, double, triple and a home run in six trips to the plate. Williams got two doubles and a single out of four trips. Stan Bistrek also connected for the circuit.

A unique triple play was executed in the game when Stan Bistrek tossed a grounder to Yez forcing White. Yez nailed the batter, Devoid, at first and Williams in turn got Humphrey at third when he tried to advance on the throw to first.

The summary follows:

Northfield Wins Another

The local boys played a wide awake game of baseball last Friday night and took the strong Greenfield Mohawks into camp by the score of 8-6.

It was the most interesting game staged here this season in spite of a few errors on both sides. The lead see-sawed back and forth and it was anyone's ball game until the last inning.

Paul Urzilewicz of the local team was on the mound for Northfield and pitched a superb brand of baseball throughout the nine innings.

John Kersavage the local backstop carried off the hitting honors with three singles out of four trips to the plate. Bob Shearer connected for a pair of triples. Dean Williams for a home run and a double. Frannie Riel for a single and a double and "Red" Yez for a couple of singles.

"Loopy" Rose the visiting twirler, was touched up for eleven hits and his fast ball seemed to be to the liking of the local boys.

"Lymie" Klaiber and "Kib" Cole of the visitors were the high batters with three bingles each.

Queen Cotton Sets Summer Mode

BY EMILY BANKS

Worcester Salt Institute

Cotton, Cotton, Cotton! Is the fashion cry for the summer season. Cotton dresses, cotton coats, cotton hats, cotton shoes, cotton bags. Never was there such a vogue for cotton.

It goes everywhere. The smart little pique jackets go over your formal gowns and they go equally well over your sports dresses. For that matter, your entire formal costume may correctly be made of cotton. Smart New York shops are showing dance dresses of organdy, plain or plaid; of cotton lace; of embroidered organdy or batiste; and even of pique. Dotted Swiss, too, is appearing in informal dance and daylight dining dresses.

There is no doubt about it, it is to be a "cotton" summer! It has its advantages and disadvantages. It is less expensive to begin with than silk, and it tubs. This latter may or may not be an advantage, depending on how much one knows about it.

The lovely pastel colors may disappear entirely in the first tubbing, and leave a dress of a sad gray-tan, no color at all. This is a case where an ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. Soak the dress or coat or jacket in cold water, to which a handful of salt has been added, for at least twenty minutes. This sets the color and prevents heart-aches. Another summertime grief is perspiration stains. They can be removed, in much the same simple manner. Soak in cold water, adding about a handful of salt to every quart of water. Allow to stand until stains disappear. Salt, incidentally, has so many household uses it might well be purchased by the barrel. It is excellent for brushing the teeth, gargling and checking or curing a sore throat, getting a sea bath at home.
